STATE GUARD POET LAUREATE.

"Governor Willson today appointed W. J. Lampton, of Winchester, a poet and writer for the New York World, a member of his executive staff with the rank of Colonel. Lampton will become the poet laureate of the State Guard."

The above paragraph appeared in a dispatch from Frankfort to the Cincinnati Enquirer, of Thursday, and we hasten to congratulate Mr. Lampton upon his promotion. We long ago gave him the title of Colonel, and in sending him THE HERALD each week have prefaced his name with the title created by us. Now, however, that Governor Willson has given him a place upon his staff with the title of Colonel, we feel that his title is by no means an empty honor, and as poet laureate of the Kentucky State Guard Col. Lampton will sing psalms of praise to the patriotism of Kentucky's proud sons until his name will be a household word in every loyal family in the proud old Commonwealth of the "dark and bloody ground." Long since the editor of this paper was cognizant of the fact that Col. Lampton was entitled to something better than plain Mister. His manly defence of virtue in both his poetry and prose entitles him to high honors as a chivalric gallant and reminds one of the days "When Knighthood was in flower." Were this in the same era he would go forth as an Ivanhoe and unsheathe his sword in defense of maiden and matron. The honor conferred upon him was indeed worthily bestowed and he will grace a colonel's uniform as becomingly as a diadem does the brow of the fairest damsel. Hurrah for Col. Lampton, and as aid to Governor Willson may he win a laurel wreath that will be the pride of every true Kentuckian, be he the choicest of her chivalric sons or the most modest maid of the mountains. Bill Lampton is deserving of a share of all the good things going and not one among his army of admirers is more ready to do him honor or homage than is his humble servant who pens these lines. Speaking of lines, may Col. Lampton's ever fall in pleasant places and his pathway be strewn with rarest roses. Our congratulations also go out to Governor Willson for the acumen he displayed in choosing so admirable an aid.

A laurel wreath he justly wears,
The best within the land,
Won by his gifted mind so bright,
And pen at his command.
Here's three good hearty cheers for him,
And up to life's last days,
We'll prize this man amongst the men,
With honor, love and praise.

W. J. Lampton Has Been Promoted.

A telegram from Frankfort states that our newly found friend, W. J. Lampton, the noted poet and magazine writer of New York, has been commissioned as a full fledged Kentucky Colonel, having thus attained to the most highly cherished ambition of his life, and it is now presumed that "Colonel Lampton" is ready to say: "Now lettes thou thy servant depart, etcetra."

It is said to have come about in this way: Mr. Lampton (now Colonel Lampton) being unable to further conceal his aspirations, wrote to a friend in Frankfort, telling him of his cherished ambition, whereupon the said friend let the information leak and in some way Governor Willson caught it, and knowing that there might be a thousand or two regiments of Kentucky troops over in New York that would be entirely useless in case of an emergency call, for lack of a commander, he hastened to forward a commission to Mr. Lampton (again we should say Colonel), who will at once proceed to equip himself with sword, uniform, camp chest, folding knife and fork and other paraphernalia and equipments becoming a soldier of his rank.

Here's to you, Colonel Lampton, and may every drop of that real Kentucky blood that you may spill on the field be given credit in the enrichment of the annals of the great commonwealth which gave birth to yourself and your ancestors.

Anent the above announcement of Mr. Lampton's promotion, the Louisville Times ground out the following:

"With buttons, bandolier and braid,
Lampton is now a Colonel, made;
Willson soon in matchless verses
May solace find from jeers and curses."
—Catlettsburg Tribune.

Academy Notes.

Quite a crowd of our boys attended church at Daysboro Sunday.

Misses Falay and Sue Long took dinner with Miss Miller, at the dormitory, Sunday.

The Hazel Green base ball team will play Campton next Monday on the latter's grounds.

Rollin Combs, accompanied by his cousin, Mat Combs, visited the former's parents over Sunday.

Prof. Willoughby, of Indiana, has come to teach in our school. His wife is also coming to teach.

We are glad to say that Miss Hines has recovered her voice and will stay and teach in the academy.

Misses Rhilda Wilson and Mattie Terrill visited friends at Daysboro Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Hines gave a social to those that eat at her table Saturday night. All had an enjoyable time.

Quite an interesting ball game came off between the hill and town boys. The score was five to four in favor of the town boys.

The Hazel Green base ball team has been selected and the prospects look better than ever before. With Long and Williams as pitchers and Nickell and Lacy as catchers we expect to win several games.

On April 1, "All Fool's Day," the young folks at the academy had a fine time. Everything about the school building was turned topsy-turvy, the biscuits had cotton in them, the cream pitchers had water in them and everything else was fixed up in proportion.

Nick.

A Modern Version.

Simple Simon met a pieman,
Going to the fair,
Said Simple Simon to the pieman,
"Let me taste your ware."
Said the pieman to Simple Simon:
"Young man, my ancestors were the hardy spirits who first blazed the trail through the pathless forest and founded the pioneer settlement in the region which is now Missouri. I myself hail from that glorious Commonwealth, and before I can be induced to part with one of the succulent gobs of pastry which I am vending, I must be shown your penny."
Said Simple Simon to the pieman,
"Indeed, I haven't any."

The modern hero is one part valor and nine parts printer's ink.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Colated and Concisely Chronicled.

Henry Brunker, aged about 80 years, a prominent Nicholas county farmer, fell down the stone steps at his residence and broke his neck.

An Adair county farmer has two freak lambs, neither of which has an under jaw, and one of them has no tongue. The lambs are thriving.

Many of the farmers in the tobacco raising districts are watering their tobacco beds on account of the continued drouth. They say tobacco plants are not doing well.

While playing policeman a fourteen-year-old Newport boy was running backward and struck a tree with such force as to render him unconscious. His condition is serious.

A ferocious bulldog attacked a horse in Maysville and a genuine equine canine battle ensued. The horse was fearfully lacerated and is in a serious condition. The dog was killed.

Wilson Heath, aged 20 years, died at his home in Pulaski county, from the effects of injuries received by being struck in the stomach by a piece of timber he was guiding through a saw.

Natural gas was found at a depth of 190 feet on the farm of Joe L. Bailey, about eleven miles from Georgetown, in Scott county. Temporary pipes have been laid and he is using it for light and fuel.

About 3,500 women in the employ of the American Tobacco Co., in Louisville, struck for better pay and more sanitary conditions. The outcome may be the closing down of their three factories in that city.

Garrett Woods, aged 65 years, a Garrard county farmer, was attacked by a vicious steer Sunday morning and gored to death before help could reach him. His two little girls were with him and raised the alarm.

Because his mother, who is an inmate of the Eastern Kentucky Insane asylum, failed to recognize her son, who had come from High Bridge to visit her, he lost his mind and is now an inmate of the same institution.

The grand jury of Lee county, which adjourned Saturday evening, returned 160 indictments, ten of which are against the L. & N. railroad company for shipping liquor into local option territory, and eight for the illegal sale of liquor.

John Powell and Cornelius Hickman, negroes in the Georgetown jail, trapped Jailer Lusby Sunday night and escaped from jail. Hickman was soon recaptured, but Powell, who was under eight years' sentence for car breaking, made his escape.

Disagreement of the jury in Greenup Circuit court has resulted from the trial of Mrs. Sarah H. Higgins, who was charged with having hired Fred Ferguson to assassinate William Culbertson, C. & O. railroad agent at South Portsmouth last July.

Alien county was last week visited by one of the most destructive forest fires in its history. Hundreds of men fought the fire until they fell from exhaustion, and many thousands of dollars' worth of timber, fences and outbuildings were destroyed. Luckily no lives were lost.

Persons traveling on railroads in Kentucky desiring to take a nip out or a bottle had better be careful. The governor has signed the bill making it a fine of from $10 to $20 for each offense, and confers upon conductors power to make arrests and turn the offender over to the authorities at the first stop.

The coroner of Laurel county is investigating a strange tragedy at Lily, where the bodies of John W. Egner and his nine-year-old son, of Corbin, were found under the L. & N. railroad bridge. Egner, it is alleged, was hunting for his wife, who had recently deserted him. The authorities suspect that the father pushed the son off the bridge and then committed suicide, as their bodies were not badly disfigured.

Louisville dispatches of March 31, by the Associated Press, say: "The fact of the recent withdrawal of the reward offered by the state for the arrest and conviction of the kidnapers of Alma Kerner, who disappeared from Louisville several months ago, is coupled in police circles here with that of the absence from this city since Saturday of Frank Fehr, uncle of the child, to give color to the rumor that details of Alma's restoration are now being arranged."

The Hazel Green Cemetery Association meets this afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. O. Carter. The ladies are indefatigable in their efforts to improve our city of the dead, and every week finds them doing something to beautify the grounds. This week they had the trees trimmed, Mr. Bohanan doing the work.

Is Doing Nicely.

VASHTI INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, Thomasville, Ga., March 19, 1910.

Dear Mr. Cooper: I never intended to wait so long to send my $1.00, but just let the time pass—it passes so swiftly, too.

We are having fine weather now, but the winter was unusually cold for South Georgia.

Our school work, too, is going on nicely, and we enjoy the work very much. I have often tho't of writing you fully of our work here, but can never find time, it seems, to do it.

I would so much like to see all my Hazel Green friends, as well as those of Morgan county and others scattered over "My Old Kentucky Home."

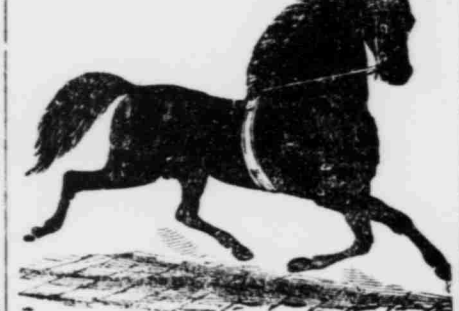

Remember me kindly to Mrs. Cooper. Very respectfully,
MRS. MATTIE O. BISHOP.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

SELIM.

This finely bred combined harness and saddle stallion will make the season of 1910 at my barn in Daysboro, at the low price of $5 TO INSURE LIVING COLT. Money due when the mare proves in foal, or bred to another horse or jack, traded away, and a lien on the colt will be retained to secure service money. SELIM is a dark chestnut sorrel, 16 hands 3 inches high, with white stockings on hind feet. He is 7 years old this spring. He was sired by Fat Washington, a celebrated saddle stallion of Fayette county, and out of a mare by Golden Chief, combined horse.

DEMPSEY.

This fine young jack will make the season at the same barn at $5 TO INSURE A LIVING COLT, on same conditions as those of the horse. Dempsey is a red sorrel, 14 hands 3 inches high, 4 years old August coming. He is out of a Black Mammoth jennet, and by Sam Brown's Red Dempsey. Breeders who have seen him pronounce him a model jack. All possible care taken to prevent accidents, but I will not be responsible should any occur. W. C. SEBASTIAN.
